Dear Parents and Families

7th July 2020

Thank you again for your patience whilst we waited for new government guidance on how your children will return to school in September.

The updated guidance was released to schools at the end of last week. The senior leadership team are working through this advice very carefully to ensure that when we open our school in September all recommended measures have been put in place.

I know that you will be very keen to hear which teacher and classroom your child will be in next year. We will be releasing this information on 16th July 2020 where you will also be given a link to a 'Meet the teacher' video. We are disappointed that we are unable to run our traditional transition weeks, but we are looking forward to September.

Before the end of term, you will receive a parent handbook giving details of changes we have had to make to the school day and guidance for both you and your children on how the school and classrooms will look in September.

Please bear with us whilst we look at all the guidance and the best way forward for our school and the well-being of your children.

As always, thank you for your continued support and understanding – Together we achieve more.

Yours Sincerely

Mrs Y. Quigley
Headteacher
