Dear parent/carer

World Book Day Thursday 4th March

It's that wonderful time of year again, World Book Day!

As we are all aware, things will be slightly different this year, but that doesn't mean we can't celebrate our love of reading all the same!

For this year's celebrations, we are having a fairy tale theme across the school. All children, whether they are working in school or at home will be completing various creative activities related to a particular fairy tale story – stories to be revealed on the day. They will have live story time slots with their teachers (see timings below), and will have an extra meeting towards the end of the day where the children will celebrate their learning and love of books. There is also going to be competitions to enter – more details will follow.

Dressing up for World Book Day has always been something that the children love to do, it really is wonderful seeing them all in their costumes. Sadly though, this is something that will be much trickier this year and we really do not wish to add any pressure on our families to take part in that tradition. If your child does wish to dress up then that's great, but we want to emphasis that there is no expectation and please only use items you already have around the home. For those children in school, please do remember that our classroom windows are open throughout the day, so please make sure they have warm clothes with their costumes.

We hope you have a wonderful World Book Day!
